BOSTON.

There are a dozen, more or less, heads of Napoleon by this artist. Is this the large laureated head facing the left with ribbon coming well down over side of neck with ends partially turned, etc.? Could the medal be sent without the case coming? One of my friends has expressed a desire to see it, and should he like it, is well enough for you to let it at once. If this can be done, if not purchased the expense would cost you nothing. If bought the case could be shipped afterwards. If you receive new additions to your stock wish you would send them to me on approval. Have you seen Mr Meyer? Have enclosed money as per memorandum. Please acknowledge receipt & oblige.

Yours [illegible]

Messrs, Chapman,

I return this day the package medals perpaid. You will pardon me for keeping them over-time. but my object in doing so was to try and get hold of a buyer and thereby dispose of more of them, but did not succeed in finding him, Those taken are checked in blue pencil, (Regarding the rare medal you wished have been inspected, for the package has not been out of my house, nor out of my sight. During the Second Empire, or up to 1870, many of the Napoleon medals, the dies of which had been preserved, were restruck and those in No. 18 took too good for originals: anyway they are fine specimens of the medallic art. How many are the actual except Nos. 1 & 2

Very truly yours, [illegible]

Messrs. Chapman..

Dear Sirs. Your esteemed favor of the 3d inst. was duly received, and I certainly owe you an apology for my long silence, I am just getting up from a long illness which attacked me the first week in February, but hope soon to be about my business. Do you have the "Medallic History of Napoleon" containing 39 plates and an addenda? It is supposed to contain all the coins and medals from the year 1796 to 1815 - all numbered and described, and published in London in large quarto form in 1[illegible]. There are some I do not possess and out of my 700 or more those out on approval must contain a great many duplicates. To one owning the book I could send the numbers wanted and [illegible] save much labor and trouble.

You will remember that you have kindly sent me twice or more a large number. But the most of them were duplicates of mine, and it is hardly worth the labor of preparing them for the few I might want. But the book would easily obviate the difficulty. I am not interested in other coins.

Very truly yours,

C. Wilson

Dear Sirs I am sorry to report my unsuccessful attempt to dispose of more of the medals. The party of whom I spoke in my former note came and saw them, but he is about going to Europe and said he would like to look the ground over there before buying here. Think you made a mistake in No. 5 as I can not make it compare with description. Medals must have adorned rapidly in price. To my knowledge there are but few collectors; but many of mine came direct from Paris & London at much lower figures. For instance your No 11 is 7.75, mine is also an original for which I paid a dealer price $1.50. Please find inclosed 7.40 for three checked in pencil

Very truly yours
